Advantage Adirondacks

Olympic 1/2

Advantage Adirondacks - “Advancing Economic Opportunities across the Adirondack Park”

Advantage Adirondacks is a project of the Adirondack Partnership to identify a specific set of programs and incentives that view “environmental and economic sustainability as mutually dependent and reinforcing.” The strategy seeks to enhance hamlets and communities, reduce dependence on State support and public sector employment, and create an increasingly self-sustaining Adirondack Park. The Partnership, together with River Street Planning & Development’s consultant team, will provide details on the plan and its implementation. David Dionne will highlight an existing trail model network in Alabama and provide a national perspective on the economic impact of recreation and amenity based tourism. Jeffrey Ciabotti will give an overview of the first two phases of the Adirondack Trail Towns Initiative and detail how this initiative will stimulate economic development. Margaret Irwin of River Street Planning will present lessons learned and discuss key themes of the Park’s new economic strategy.

- Bill Farber, Chairman, Hamilton County Board of Supervisors
- Margaret Irwin, Owner, River Street Planning and Development
- Jeffrey Ciabotti, Senior Planner, Toole Design Group
- David Dionne, Executive Director, Red Mountain Park

Variance Review and Procedures

Variance review criteria from Town Law may be well known, but how exactly should a ZBA determine if a variance will have an adverse impact or if it is appropriate to include conditions on the approval? Local land use attorney Michael Hill with Miller, Mannix, Schachner & Hafner, LLC will review the fundamentals of granting a variance and the potential pitfalls of the process.

- Michael Hill, Esq., Miller, Mannix, Schachner & Hafner LLC

Practical Pointers for Site Plan Review

Join APA staff for a hands-on activity and professional discussion focused on of the basics of Site Plan Review. This session is intended to serve as a primer on how to read site plans, what to look out for and other considerations.

- Shaun LaLonde, Soil & Water Engineering Specialist, NYS Adirondack Park Agency
- Ariel Lynch, Environmental Program Specialist 2, NYS Adirondack Park Agency
- Colleen Parker, Environmental Program Specialist 3, NYS Adirondack Park Agency

Adirondack Park Smart Growth Implementation Grant Awards

Olympic 1/2

DEC Commissioner, Joe Martens, will announce the recipients of the third round of Adirondack Park Smart Growth Grants. Adirondack municipalities will receive grant monies totaling $400,000 to implement smart growth projects within hamlets, villages and town centers. Projects will include capital improvements, environmentally sound economic development projects and organizational capacity-building to advance key projects. These grants seek to capitalize on the collaborative planning efforts of communities and organizations in the Park.

Session Descriptions - Continued

◆ Session 1: 9:00AM-10:15AM ◆

1A. Biomass - Wood Energy Comes to the 21st Century

Olympic 3

Clean-burning, high-efficiency wood pellet boilers are populating the North Country, thanks in part to multi-State coordination by the Northern Forest Center and a regional initiative undertaken by Adirondack North Country Association. This session provides an armchair visual tour of programs in place, featuring close-ups on installed units at municipal buildings and other locations where biomass is now the heating source of choice.

- Gerald Delaney, Councilman, Town of Saranac
- Kate Fish, Executive Director, ANCA
- Leslie Karasin, Project Manager, Northern Forest Center
- Fred Monroe, Executive Director, Local Government Review Board
 - Moderator –Gerald Delaney

1B. Community Projects and Events

Olympic 4

This presentation will highlight projects and events of regional and local scale that are occurring throughout the Park. Presentations will cover the Cycle Adirondacks event, the Adirondack Park Agency's new Hamlet Economic Planning and Assistance initiative, and the First Wilderness Heritage Corridor Plan.

- Dan Kelleher, Special Assistant for Economic Affairs, NYS Adirondack Park Agency
- Wayne LaMothe, Director of Planning and Community Development for Warren County, NY
- Zoe Smith, Director, Adirondack Program at Wildlife Conservation Society
- John Spaeth, Mayor, Village of Northville
 - Moderator – Ronald Moore

1C. Dealing with Difficult Players in the Planning and Zoning Game

Olympic 1/2

The planning and zoning review process is and presumably should be open and public, but “difficult players” sometimes hinder the effectiveness of application review. While it is usually impossible to eliminate or even control such individuals, we will discuss various ways to deal with them as effectively as possible. This discussion is itself sometimes frustrating and some may leave with more questions than answers, but it is usually interesting and sometimes provocative.

2A. Tourism Promotion

Olympic 1/2

Hear first from the Regional Office of Sustainable Tourism about their work with many towns and villages to leverage the Park's great natural and culture features for the benefit of communities seeking to expand commercial opportunities. Learn next about DEC's effort to create recreationally focused web pages for Forest Preserve units and conservation easement tracts in the Adirondacks that will identify all recreational activities and infrastructure available to the public and how to access them. The session concludes with an update by Adirondack Regional Tourism Council and AdWorkshop on the status of Phase 2 of AATV's Outdoor Recreation Web Portal and its integration with the DEC information and community events and how it will help bring visitors to your community.

- Gavin Landry, Executive Director of Tourism, Empire State Development
- James McKenna, Executive Director, Regional Office of Sustainable Tourism
- Ronald Ofner, Executive Director, Adirondack Regional Tourism Council
- David Winchell, Public Affairs Specialist, Office of Communication Services, NYS Department of Environmental Conservation
 - Moderator – Randall Douglas

2B. Community Planning - Alternatives and Preparedness

Olympic 4

Town of Inlet officials will describe a five-year history of their local law requiring inspection of a property's septic system prior to sale, and the requirement to repair any septic system failing to meet conditions of the law. The Adirondack Road Salt Alternative Working Group will provide guidance to communities seeking alternatives to the use of conventional road deicing materials. And NYS DEC staff will discuss how your community can reduce emissions, increase climate resilience, save money and protect community infrastructure by becoming a Climate Smart Community.

- Dazzle Ekblad, Climate Policy Analyst, Office of Climate Change, NYS DEC
- John Frey, Supervisor, Town of Inlet
- Willie Janeway, Executive Director, Adirondack Council
- Dan Kelting, Director of Adirondack Watershed Institute, Paul Smith's College
- Randy Preston, Supervisor, Town of Wilmington
- Aimee VanWie, Code Enforcement Officer, Town of Inlet
 - Moderator – Evelyn Wood

2C. Enforcement of Zoning and Other Local Laws

Olympic 3

Municipalities have various regulations that are an extension of their police power but which aren't necessarily enforced by the police: zoning; property maintenance; and noise regulations; for example. This session reviews how these regulations are enforced with discussions concerning the relationship between the enforcement officer and the review boards, the effect of an appeal of an enforcement action to the zoning board of appeals, and judicial enforcement of violations. Code Enforcement Officers may receive 1 hour of In-Service Credit.

- Catherine M. Hamlin, Land Use Training Specialist 1, NYS Department of State
- Natasha Esther Phillip, Esq., Associate Attorney, NYS Department of State

3A. Funding Opportunities for Municipalities

Olympic 1/2

Whether you are planning for your community's future or are putting infrastructure in the ground, there are many potential sources of funding to explore. Learn what State programs are available that can provide funding resources to help make your project a success.

- Jason Denno, State Needs Coordinator, NYS Environmental Facilities Corporation
- Stephen Hunt, North Country Regional Director, NYS Empire State Development
- Kyle Wilber, Municipal Management Consultant, NYS Department of State
- Moderator – Mark Hall

3B. Invasive Species - The Incoming, Ongoing Challenge

Olympic 4

Invasive species can be expected to continue to challenge many of our communities by undermining their ecological, recreational and financial assets. Much has been accomplished, however, more work is needed to develop ways to remove existing invasive species and implement control measures capable of preventing new infestations. This session will highlight efforts by New York State, regional organizations and local communities to control, manage and fund the ongoing work.

- Ed Griesmer, Executive Director, Adirondack Lakes Alliance
- Eric Holmlund, Director, Adirondack Watershed Institute Stewardship Program/ Interim Dean, School of Commercial, Applied and Liberal Arts at Paul Smith's College
- Kathy Moser, Deputy Commissioner, NYS Department of Environmental Conservation
- Brendan Quirion, Coordinator, Adirondack Park Invasive Plant Program
- Moderator – Fred Monroe

3C. Case Law Update for Planning and Zoning

Olympic 3

Recent cases that pertain to land use will be summarized and their implications on land use regulation at the local level explored. Relevant opinions by the New York State Attorney General, Office of State Comptroller, and Committee on Open Government will also be reviewed. Code Enforcement Officers may receive 1 hour of In-Service Credit.

- Natasha Esther Phillip, Esq., Associate Attorney, NYS Department of State

4A. State and Local Collaboration to Enhance Outdoor Recreation Opportunities

Olympic 1/2

The Great South Woods (GSW) Project is a planning effort focused on over 2 million acres of public and private lands in the southern Adirondacks. DEC and APA, with key partners, are engaging the recreating public, community officials and business interests in helping to plan: 1) a destination-based system of trails and other recreational assets for the Great South Woods; and, 2) improvements to the State's protective management of the region's exceptional natural resources and wild character. This session will review progress to date and how this approach should better connect communities to one another and to the Forest Preserve and Conservation Easement lands. Another recreational planning effort which is occurring simultaneously will also be presented. The Adirondack Community-based Trails and Lodging System (ACTLS) project is a new Park-wide initiative that seeks to connect communities in the Park with self-powered circuit traverses, and strategically-located front-and back-country places of lodging. Materials will also be available that diagram the processes used by the State to develop Unit Management Plans, State Land Master Plan Amendments and State Land Classifications. There will be an opportunity to ask staff questions about these processes.

- Jack Drury, Project Director, ACTLS
- Abigail Larkin, GSW Project Coordinator, SUNY College of Environmental Science & Forestry
- Kathy Regan, Deputy Director, Planning, NYS Adirondack Park Agency
- Karyn Richards, Forest Preserve Coordinator, NYS Department of Environmental Conservation
 - Moderator – Kathy Regan

4B. Broadband

Olympic 3

Universal access to broadband continues to be a major consideration in efforts to spur economic investment and heighten community satisfaction. Ongoing regional investment and recent announcements on State-wide approaches to expand access will be discussed, along with community-based initiatives that provide service to residents and visitors alike.

- Ed Bartholomew, President, Warren County Economic Development Corporation
- Andrew Mahoney, Executive Director, Adirondack Teleworks
- David Salway, Executive Director, Governor Cuomo's Broadband Program
 - Moderator – William Farber
